A wide-angle, high-angle photograph of a city skyline at sunset. The sky is a gradient of orange and yellow. In the center, the Burj Khalifa stands prominently. The foreground is dominated by a complex, multi-level highway interchange with several overpasses and ramps. To the left, there are several modern skyscrapers. To the right, a large, yellow, modern building with a distinctive architectural design is visible. The overall scene is a mix of urban infrastructure and modern architecture.
